UNIVERSITY OF

MARYLAND

A trip across College Park reveals a university which has changed markedly in the 1990s. Almost a half-billion dollars worth of construction has recently taken place or is ongoing. A campus already known for its beauty is getting better. Academically, College Park's peers are the best public universities in America. College Park is surrounded by opportunities in sports and the arts, by chances to visit mountains or shore. It's a good location.

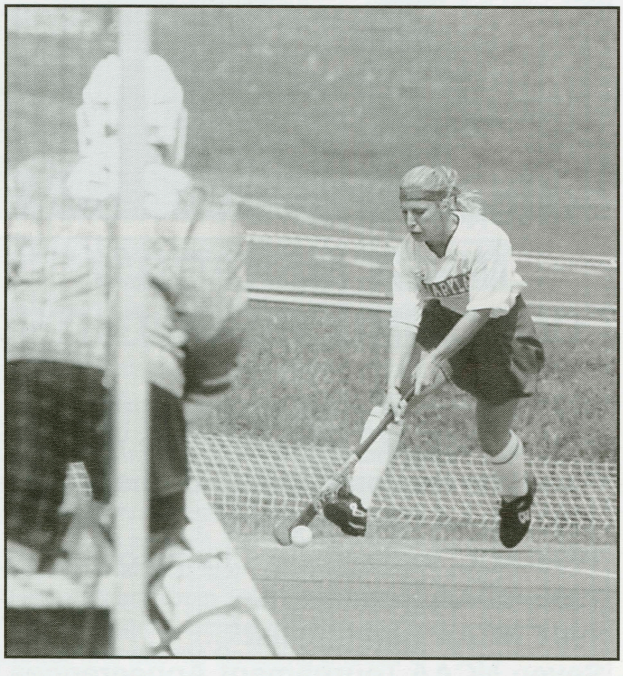
1997 OUTLOOK

1997 promises to be a special year in the storied tradition of the University of Maryland field hockey program. Seven returning players form one of the Terps' best senior classes ever, and ten freshmen make up one of the top recruiting classes in the nation.

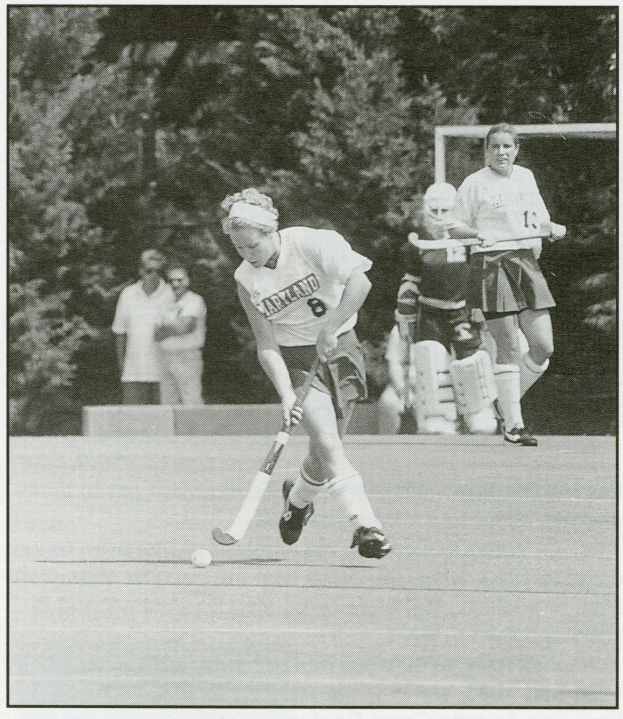
Last year's top three offensive starters return for the Terps. Senior forward Lynsey McVicker, a 1995 and 1996 All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection, led the team in scoring with 17 goals and 14 assists (48 points). Senior midfielder Christine DeBow, a two-time first-team All-American and three time All-Atlantic Coast Conference pick, tied for second in scoring with 15 goals and seven assists (37 points). Senior forward Nadine Bennett, who broke the school record by assisting on 17 goals, also had 37 total points.

Maryland has two other proven starters to help bolster the offense. Senior midfeilder Sarah Rosenwinkel was a second-team All-American in 1995 and junior midfielder Jennifer Pratt was a third-team All-American last season. In addition, junior forward Kasey Heiser, junior midfielder Ellen Wolf and sophomore forward Emily Ward all had extensive playing time last season.

Defensively, the Terps also have plenty of senior leadership. Carolyn Schwarz, who was an All Big-Ten selection at Michigan before transferring to Maryland last season, returns for her final college season. Another senior defender, Karin Freeswick, has steadily improved over the course of her college career, gaining more playing time each year.



Two time All-American Christine DeBow



Lynsey McVicker, the Terps' leading scorer

Senior goalie Alana Eliwatt has held down the starting job the past two seasons. Both years, she has been ranked in the top 20 nationally in terms of her goals against average (1.23 in 1995 and 1.68 in 1996). Redshirt freshman Zoe Erlich is the Terps' other goalie and is ready to gain playing time.

Of the Terps' ten freshmen, three were All-Americans during their high school career. Carla Tagliente is already a member of the U.S. National Team. Molly Kauffman hopes to follow in the footsteps of her sister Katie, who starred for the Terps from 1992-96. Keli Smith scored 124 goals during her high school career.

1997 will be the first season that each team in the ACC does not play each other twice. As a result, Maryland has scheduled games against some of the top non-conference schools in the nation. Northwestern, Ball State, Providence and Princeton will all come to College Park to face the Terps during the regular season.

The Terps have renovated the bleachers in the Astroturf Facility (their home field) in preparation for the 1997 season. This is designed to give all fans an excellent view of the entire playing field.

It all adds up to what should be a memorable year in the proud history of the Maryland field hockey program.

HEAD COACH MISSY MEHARG

Head coach Missy Meharg begins her 10th year at the helm of the Maryland field hockey program. During her first nine years, she has established herself as one of the top coaches in the nation. At the same time, the Terps have been a perennial force on the national scene.

In her nine previous seasons, Meharg has attained a sparkling record of 130-56-9. She has led the Terps into the NCAA Tournament seven times and has never had a losing season.

Without question, the highlight of Meharg's tenure came in 1993, when the Terps won the national championship. In addition, Meharg's Terps also finished second in 1995 and third in 1991.

Meharg's success has not gone without notice. In 1991 and 1993, she was named the NCAA Coach of the Year. The Atlantic Coast Conference voted her as the top ACC coach in both 1992 and 1995. In addition, she has been voted the Middle Atlantic Region Coach of the Year five times.

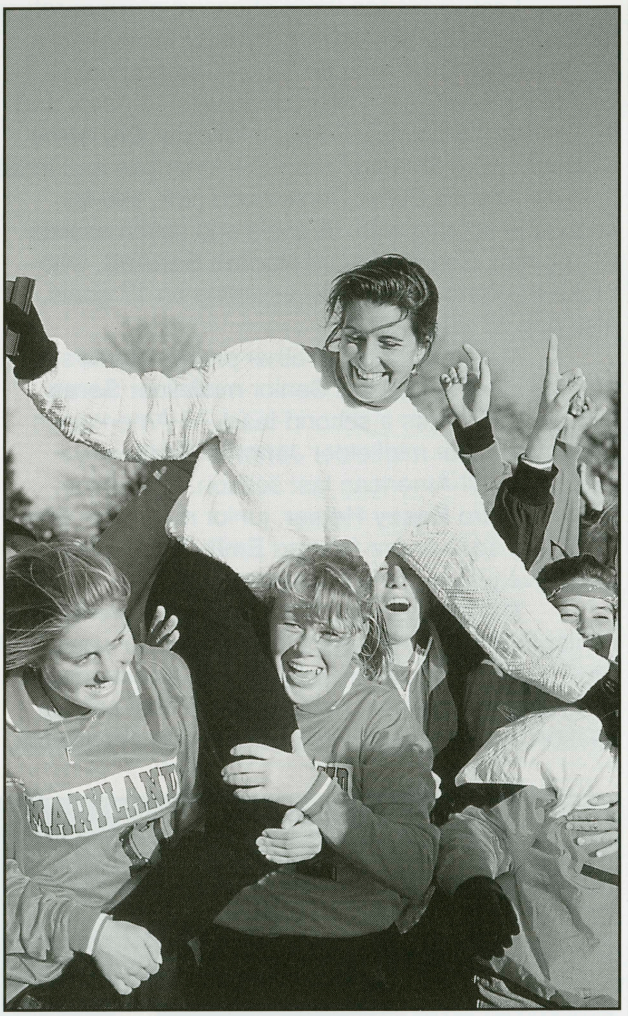
The field hockey program Meharg runs is a testament to her emphasis on hard work, both on the field and in the classroom. She has had 25 All-America selections during her nine years at Maryland. In addition, she has had 38 Academic All-America selections during the same time span. Furthermore, the combined GPA for the entire Maryland team last season was 3.19.

While she has maintained a top notch program at Maryland, Meharg has also become a prominent coach on the international scene. In 1996, she was an assistant coach for the U.S. Olympic team in Atlanta. Meharg has also been an assistant coach on the U.S. National team since 1994 and was the head coach of the United States Under-21 team when they competed in Spain in 1995.

Meharg's playing career was as prolific as her coaching career is now. She was a two-time All-America forward at the University of Delaware, where she played from 1981-84. In her senior season, Meharg was a Broderick Award nominee, which is given to the most outstanding college player of the year. She was also a two-time All-America in lacrosse. Meharg graduated from Delaware in 1985 with a degree in physical education.

Five times during her playing career, Meharg competed in the U.S. Olympic Festival. She was also an alternate on the Pan-American team in 1987 and an alternate on the 1988 Olympic team in Seoul. Meharg capped of her playing career as a member of the 1991 U.S. qualifying team for the 1992 Olympic Games in Barcelona.

During her post-college career, Meharg also continued her education. She earned her master's degree in sports psychology from the University of Maryland in 1989. While in graduate school, she was an assistant coach under Sue Tyler when the Terps won the NCAA Championship in 1987. When Tyler became the associate athletic director at Maryland the following year, Meharg was named the Terps' new head coach.



MISSY MEHARG'S COACHING HIGHLIGHTS

1991 NCAA Semifinalist
Seven NCAA Tournament Appearances

ASSISTANT COACHES

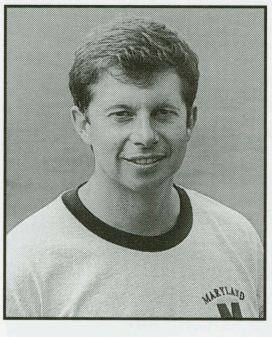
Andrea Bradley

Andrea Bradley begins her first year as a full-time assistant coach at Maryland. She arrives from the University of Iowa, where she was the assistant coach for the Hawkeyes the past two years.

Prior to her tenure at Iowa, Bradley was the head coach at Goucher College from 1991-94. In her four years at the helm, Bradley led the squad to a 37-18-2 record. She was named the South Region Coach of the Year in 1992 and led Goucher to its first ever NCAA Tournament appearance in 1994.

Bradley was the starting goalie for the University of Delaware from 1984-88. During her freshman season, she was teammates with Maryland's current head coach Missy Meharg.

After earning her bachelor's degree in physical education from Delaware in 1988, Bradley went on to earn her master's degree in physical education from Northern Illinois in 1991. While in graduate school, she was an assistant coach for the Northern Illinois field hockey team.



Steve Simpson

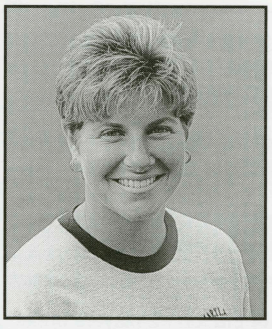
Steve Simpson begins his third season as an assistant at Maryland.

A 1988 Maryland graduate (with a degree in general studies), Simpson has had extensive experience playing, coaching and officiating field hockey since arriving in the United States from England in 1977.

Simpson was a member of the Men's Junior National Team from 1977-80, and became an alternate for the National Team in 1981. During his playing career, Simpson competed in four Olympic Festivals (1979, 1981, 1982, 1983).

In 1985, Simpson became an F.I.H. International umpire. He was later promoted to the Grade One Level. In the past twelve years, he has officiated over 140 games involving national teams.

As a coach, Simpson is an assistant for the U.S. Women's National Team and the men's Under-21 National Team. From 1995-96, he also coached for the Future's program. Simpson is the coach of the Washington Wolves and was the Coaching Director of the Chesapeake Region.



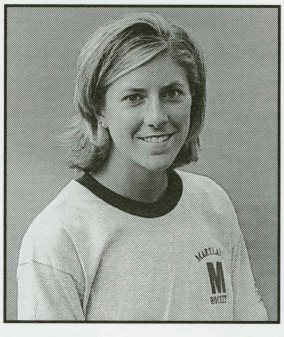
Michele Murphy

Michele Murphy enters her fifth season as an assistant with the Terps.

From 1988-91, Murphy was the starting goalie at Penn State. In addition to setting the Nittany Lions' record for career shutouts (39.5), Murphy was a two-time All-American. She graduated from Penn State in May 1992.

Murphy is working on her master's degree in speech and language pathology at the University of the District of Columbia.

She and her husband Bill were married June 24, 1995.



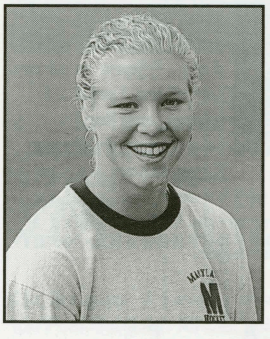
Katie Kauffman

Katie Kauffman begins her first year as an assistant at Maryland.

During her playing career at Maryland (1992-96), Kauffman was a two-time first-team All-America back and helped lead the Terps to the NCAA Championship her sophomore year (1993).

Outside of Maryland, Kauffman was the youngest player to be selected for the 1996 U.S. Olympic team in Atlanta. In addition, she is currently a member of the U.S. National Team.

Kauffman is currently working on her bachelors degree in marketing.



Tricia Burdt

Tricia Burdt begins her first year as an assistant at Maryland.

From 1993-96, Burdt played in the backfield for the Terps. She was twice named a first-team All-American, and played on the 1993 NCAA Championship squad her freshman year.

Burdt has continued her playing career on the U.S. National team and is currently working on her bachelor's degree in physical education.

THIS IS MARYLAND

The Campus

The flagship campus of Maryland's 11-institution system of higher learning, the University of Maryland, College Park, is the most comprehensive institution of higher education, research and service in the state. The university offers 98 undergraduate majors, 87 master's programs and 68 doctoral programs in 13 colleges and schools.

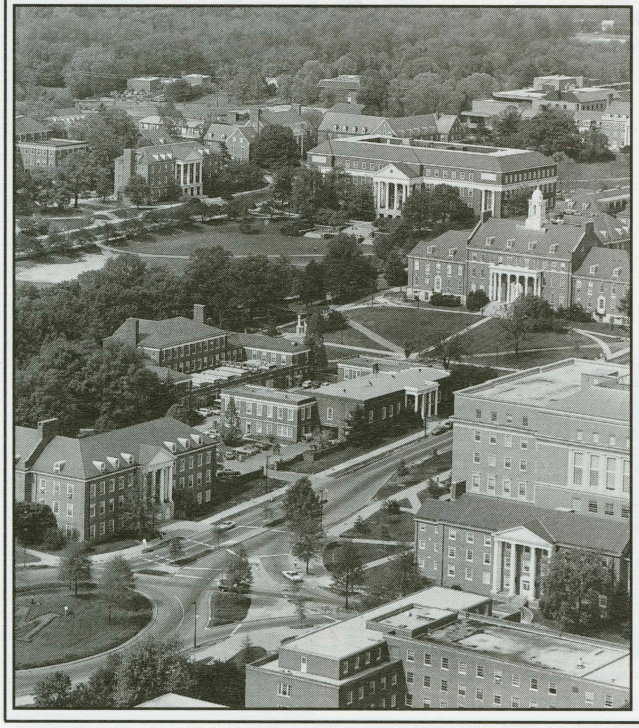
The university is one of only 30 public research universities that are members of the prestigious 58-member Association of American Universities and the only public institution in the Maryland -D.C. area with a membership in the nation's most distinguished honor society, Phi Beta Kappa. It is classified as a Research-1 university by the Carnagie Foundation by virtue of the range of its baccalaureate programs, the amount of federal support received and the number of doctoral degrees awarded each year, sharing that honor with the top research universities in the country.

Among the public universities in the Association of American Universities, College Park ranks among the top percentage of African-American undergraduate students. In addition, the university has the largest number of African-American and other minority members among its peers.

History

The University of Maryland was founded in 1807 in Baltimore as a faculty-owned College of Medicine. The medical school was considered one of the top schools in the country, attracting notable professors and lecturers from throughout the world. In its beginning, tuition cost $140, grades were sent home weekly to parents and students could obtain room and board for $300 annually.

Five years later, the growing institution was renamed the University of Maryland . Despite the name, the university was not considered a state institution as it was still owned and operated by the faculty. Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, the first dental school in America, became part of the university in 1840, awarding the first Doctor of Dental Surgery (D.D.S) degree in 1841.



In 1920, the state legislature combined the College Park institution with the professional schools in Baltimore to forma an expanded University of Maryland. The entity eventually grew to include campuses in Baltimore County, on the Eastern Shore and the worldwide University College, a continuing education institution.

The following decades saw the increasing growth of student population, excellence in programs and curricula and the burgeoning of the University of Maryland, College Park, into a nationally recognized research institution.

July 1, 1988, marked the dawn of a new era in higher education the state of Maryland, as the five components of the university were merged with six other state universities and colleges to for the University of Maryland system and College Park secured its flagship status with a mandate to become one of the pre-eminent research universities in the nation.

Research

The unique role of American research universities in advancing science and technology has kept the United States in the forefront of innovation and product development. Research dollars from federal and state agencies, corporations and foundations fuel much of the basic and applied research activity of the University of Maryland College Park's faculty and graduate students.

The university has unique facilities, research centers and institutes that attract new research projects and funding, as well as provide expanded knowledge in business, science and technology. The A. James Clark School of Engineering houses the Glenn L. Martin Wind Tunnel--the most advanced aerodynamic testing facility of its kind on any university campus--and the Natural Buoyancy Facility, which stimulates weightlessness for space research, the only such facility on a university campus. Other specialized facilities include: Computer Vision Laboratory; Bioprocess-Scale up Laboratory; Laboratory for Ion Beam Research and Application; Superconductivity Research Center, Laboratory for Plasma and Fusion Studies, Psycholonguistics Laboratory; Computer-Assisted Cartographic Laboratories; Developmental Psychology Laboratory and the Center on Aging.

Service

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

With more than 90 high technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince Geroge's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, all programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

The University of Maryland features a diversity of cultural and recreational activities. Four art galleries, more than 200 annual musical performances and countless dance and theater productions, expose audiences to the broadest range of programs in the arts. And intercollegiate, club and intramural sports provide students of all levels in opportunity to participate as spectators or athletes.

The Libraries

The seven libraries at the university constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington Metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format. University libraries also offer several nationally and international recognized special collections such as the International Piano Archives at Maryland, the National Trust for Historic Preservation and the National Public Broadcasting Archives.

University Highlights

Forty-four percent of this year's freshman class has a high school grade point average of 3.5 or above.

ARCO's book, Ivy League Programs and State School Prices, rated the University Honors program among the nine best in the nation.

US News and World Report rated Maryland's business and engineering programs in the top 25 among all public and private institutions.

Last year, faculty researchers at College Park were awarded almost $150 million in competitively funded research programs and development awards, an increase of 83 percent since 1988.

No other university in the mid-Atlantic region has more top-20 graduate programs in computer, math and physical sciences and engineering disciplines than College Park, according to a recent analysis by the National Research Council.
